NEWSLETTER

APRIL, 1986

The Washington County Historical Society will have its regular membership meeting on Monday night, April 28 at 7:30 P.M. at the Washington EMC Building.

The program planned for Monday night will be very special and all members are urged to attend.

PROGRAM:

Dr. Melvin Kranzberg, Callaway Professor of the History of Technology at Georgia Tech will give a program entitled "Leonarda Da Vinci: A Hell of an Engineer" that was delivered for the 100th Anniversary Celebration of Georgia Tech. In addition to telling about Da Vinci's engineering skills he will also include material about the general history of science and engineering and their importance in our lives. The talk will be on a level to interest laymen and high school students, so please invite your friends and students that have an interest in science and technology and Georgia Tech graduates.

Dr. Kranzberg is one of Tech's most prestigious professors and is featured in the last issue of the Georgia Tech Alumni magazine. He has also been on television several times recently, commenting on the shuttle incident.

MUSEUM:

Our sincere thanks to the Davisboro Community Club and the Davisboro mayor and council for their splendid exhibit on early drugstores and other Davisboro memorabilia. It was a fine contribution to the museum.

On exhibit now are works by students of Mrs. Jackie Holton and Mrs. Mary Moyer.

If anyone knows of any collections suitable for exhibit for the museum, please call Mary Alice Jordan (552-2963). We are always open for temporary or permanent exhibits.

The museum is getting a face lift. The outside trim is being painted. Thanks to the county commissioners!
